On this page, enter the number of program completers by the subject area in which they were prepared to teach, and by their academic majors. Note that an individual can be counted in more than one academic major and subject area. For example, if an individual is prepared to teach Elementary Education and Mathematics, that individual should be counted in both subject areas. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major or subject area, you may leave the cell blank. Please use the "Other" category sparingly, if there is no similar subject area or academic major listed. In these cases, you should use the text box to describe the subject area(s) and/or the academic major(s) counted in the "Other" category.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the program completers in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the program completers in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the program completers for the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the teachers prepared data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

Teachers Prepared by Subject Area

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by subject area for academic year 2023-24.

For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Subject area" refers to the subject area(s) an individual has been prepared to teach. An individual can be counted in more than one subject area. If no individuals were prepared in a particular subject area, please leave that cell blank. (§205(b)(1)(H))

What are CIP Codes?

No teachers prepared in academic year 2023-24

If your program has no teachers prepared, check the box above and leave the table below blank (or clear responses already entered).

What are CIP codes? The Classification of Instructional Programs (CIP) provides a taxonomic scheme that supports the accurate tracking and reporting of fields of study and program completions activity. CIP was originally developed by the U.S. Department of Education's National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) in 1980, with revisions occurring in 1985, 1990, and 2000 (<https://nces.ed.gov/ipeds/cipcode/Default.aspx?y=55>).

Teachers Prepared by Academic Major

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by academic major for academic year 2023-24. For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Academic major" refers to the actual major(s) declared by the program completer. An individual can be counted in more than one academic major. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major, please leave that cell blank. \(\$205\(b\)\(1\)\(H\)\)

Please note that the list of majors includes several "Teacher Education" majors, as well as several noneducation majors. Please use care in entering your majors to ensure education-specific majors and non-education majors are counted correctly. For example, if an individual majored in Chemistry, that individual should be counted in the "Chemistry" academic major category rather than the "Teacher Education–Chemistry" category.

What are CIP Codes?

The pass rates table is populated from files provided by the testing company or state. The table provides information on the performance of the students in your teacher preparation program on each teacher credential assessment used by your state. In cases where a student has taken a given assessment more than once, the highest score on that test is used. In the case of a teacher preparation program with fewer than 10 scores reported on any single initial teacher credential assessment during an academic year, the program shall collect and publish information with respect to an average pass rate and scaled score on each state credential assessment taken over a three-year period. \(§205\(a\)\(1\)\(B\)\)

Please note that this page does not have an edit feature as the pass rates have already been through several rounds of verification. If you identify an error, please contact RTI's Title II Support Center and your testing company representative.

The pass rates table is populated from files provided by the testing company or state. The table provides information on the performance of the students in your teacher preparation program on each teacher credential assessment used by your state. In cases where a student has taken a given assessment more than once, the highest score on that test is used. In the case of a teacher preparation program with fewer than 10 scores reported on any single initial teacher credential assessment during an academic year, the program shall collect and publish information with respect to an average pass rate and scaled score on each state credential assessment taken over a three-year period. \(§205\(a\)\(1\)\(B\)\)

Please note that this page does not have an edit feature as the pass rates have already been through several rounds of verification. If you identify an error, please contact RTI's Title II Support Center and your testing company representative.

Use of Technology

1. Provide the following information about the use of technology in your teacher preparation program. Please note that choosing 'yes' indicates that your teacher preparation program would be able to provide evidence upon request. \(\$205\(a\)\(1\)\(F\)\)

Does your program prepare teachers to:

a. integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction

☒ Yes

☐ No

b. use technology effectively to collect data to improve teaching and learning

☐ No

c. use technology effectively to manage data to improve teaching and learning

☒ Yes

2. Provide a description of the evidence that your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction, and to use technology effectively to collect, manage, and analyze data in order to improve teaching and learning for the purpose of increasing student academic achievement. Include a description of the evidence your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to use the principles of universal design for learning, as applicable. Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the four elements listed above are not currently in place.

Candidates in the Early Childhood and Elementary Education programs take a required three-credit hour course entitled EDCI B243 Technology Resources for Teaching that focuses on integrating technology in the classroom. Candidates in the Secondary English and Secondary Mathematics programs take course EDCI B320: Technology Resources for Teaching which provides instructional strategies on the integration of technology in the secondary classroom. Other courses require the use of technology for course presentations including EDEC 342 and EDEL 320. Faculty use technology in a variety of ways that include supervised online discussions boards and VoiceThread via Blackboard to create learning experiences using Smart Boards or digital video teaching samples. Candidates are also prepared to use the same technologies that are available in local schools. Key assessments are submitted using LiveText, a central data management system that allows the unit to collect data to improve teaching and learning. The unit's Assessment Coordinator and Accreditation Coordinator use technology to effectively manage and analyze data (Access, LiveText, Banner, etc.). The integration of technology throughout and within the unit is a fundamental part of increasing candidate knowledge, skills, and dispositions in the preparation of teachers for a technological society. Candidates use LiveText to plan lessons and design assessment tools, such as rubrics. This allows the collection and management of student assessment data. The data are analyzed to improve teaching and learning. During the clinical internship (student teaching), candidates develop and implement a Student Learning Objective (SLO) assignment that includes comprehensive study of student population, goal setting, creation of objectives and lesson plans, assessment and progress monitoring, goal setting for students, and analysis and reflection on their students' learning outcomes. The SLO provides evidence of how candidates use technology to integrate technology (using Smart Boards; currently being updated to match the technology in local school districts) into their teaching, collect P-6 student data, develop multiple assessments, analyze P-6 student learning, and reflect upon their own practice to make informed decisions. Program completer and employers are surveyed, annually, on their satisfaction of the completer's ability to effectively integrate instructional technology in the K-12 classroom. Overall, responses from both completers and employers demonstrate satisfaction with the preparation candidates receive in relation to the implementation of instructional technology in the classroom.

Teacher Training

1. Provide a description of the activities that prepare general education teachers to:

a. Teach students with disabilities effectively

Candidates are required to take EDEX B300, Introduction to the Exceptional Learner. This course provides needed training for working with students with disabilities effectively and to build on these strategies throughout their methods courses and clinical internship. During the internship (EDEC B469; ELEM B470; EDEM B469; and ENGL B483), interns participate in an Individualized Education Plan team meeting for a student identified with a disability whenever possible. All lesson plans require candidates to differentiate instruction and plan teaching/learning accommodations or modifications for students with special needs and/or limited English proficiency.

b. Participate as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act.

All lesson plans require candidates to differentiate instruction and plan teaching/learning accommodations or modifications for students with special needs and/or limited English proficiency.

c. Effectively teach students who are limited English proficient.

In the pre-professional course, EDCI B100, Clinical Observation and Analysis, pre-candidates are required to learn instructional strategies for working with students who have limited English proficiency and to build on these strategies throughout their methods courses and clinical internship. Additionally, meeting the needs of students with limited English proficiency is one focus in EDEX B300, Introduction to the Exceptional Learner, and EDCI B322, Cultural Diversity in Education. All lesson plans require candidates to differentiate instruction and plan teaching/learning accommodations or modifications for students with special needs and/or limited English proficiency.

2. Does your program prepare special education teachers?

- ☐ Yes
- ☒ No

If yes, provide a description of the activities that prepare special education teachers to:

Contextual Information

Please use this space to provide any additional information that describes your teacher preparation program(s). You may also attach information to this report card (see below). The U.S. Department of Education is especially interested in any evaluation plans or interim or final reports that may be available.

The USCB EPP is the professional education unit nationally accredited by CAEP. In Spring 2022, we completed our CAEP visit. The CAEP Board of Examiners and state team reported that our unit met all CAEP Standards with no areas for improvement (AFIs). The Department has grown from six full time faculty (including a department chair, a placement coordinator, and an accreditation coordinator) to nine full time faculty. The three additional faculty are funded through a Teacher Quality Partnership (TQP) grant ("MASTERY"; Melding Academics Support and Training of Educators for Higher Retention Yields). Our programs are partnering with Beaufort County School District (BCSD) to recruit, prepare, support, and retain highly qualified teachers to serve in 15 high-need elementary and high schools in BCSD. Schools included in the grant partnership have a poverty rate of 71%, 13% are students with disabilities, and 17% are multi-lingual learners, and 68% of the students in these schools did not score proficient on the Fall 2021 benchmark testing. The Department, also, has five adjunct faculty and 1 part-time administrative assistant. In addition, faculty from the secondary content areas: Mathematics (one faculty member) and English (one faculty member) serve as program coordinators for the respective programs and teach courses in those preparation programs. The vision of the unit "is to serve as the primary resource for both aspiring educators and in-service teachers in the Lowcountry and beyond" (Educator Preparation Handbook, p.6, <https://www.uscb.edu/academics/education/admission/pdfs/Handbook-AY-2024-2025-v2.pdf>). The mission of the unit is "to create a legacy of engaged citizen-educators, well-equipped to respond adaptively to a broad range of student needs and primed to serve as advocates for children and young people. We focus on the acquisition of deep content knowledge, strong pedagogical skills, and professional teacher dispositions" (p.6, <https://www.uscb.edu/academics/education/admission/pdfs/Handbook-AY-2024-2025-v2.pdf>). The vision of the USCB DOE faculty and staff, supported by the general education faculty and university administration, is to establish USCB as the primary resource for educators and school systems in the Lowcountry. This is accomplished through partnerships with school districts and educators, outreach to the community, and the development of USCB as the recognized source of expertise and activity in education. Our philosophy is, "everything we do as an educator preparation provider -- in our course and fieldwork, our assessments, and our system of candidate progression -- is informed by our core beliefs about learning and the important role teachers play in the learning process. Specifically, we believe that: -learning is constructed by learners in social contexts -- not received passively by them; -learning is more enduring, more in-depth, and more powerful when students are engaged in inquiry and discovery than when they are asked simply to accumulate and memorize information; -learning requires nurturing, supportive and safe classroom spaces; -learning is developmental, and continues throughout the lifespan; -teachers must embrace the richness of student diversity; -teachers must possess deep content knowledge, strong pedagogical skills, and proficiency with educational technology; -teachers must model the pursuit of learning in their own personal life." (Educator Preparation Handbook, p. 7, <https://www.uscb.edu/academics/education/admission/pdfs/Handbook-AY-2024-2025-v2.pdf>). Specifically, we envision an education unit that educates and trains prospective teachers based on accepted research and developmental practices strengthened by professional preparation experiences in the public schools of the region. We envision faculty who educate and train prospective teachers, are recognized leaders in the educational community, and who add to the knowledge base of education through research. We envision graduates who have the professional knowledge base, pedagogical expertise, and the dispositions to synthesize these abilities to work effectively in the everyday environment of the education system. These graduates, working in diverse settings with diverse populations, will accept all students in the learning process and devise a learning environment that will enable each student to reach his or her potential. The Early Childhood Education, Elementary Education, Secondary English, and Secondary Mathematics programs are recognized by the South Carolina Department of Education. The Secondary English program is approved by the South Carolina Department of Education and will undergo cyclical review at the time of the EPP's next program recognition process (Spring 2026). In 2021, the Department of Education began offering a Masters of Education in Literacy to meet the needs of regional teachers. In response to feedback from teachers in the region, the Masters of Education in Literacy will be a fully online program beginning in the Fall of 2025. The Department offers graduate courses for in-service teachers seeking add-on certification in English as a Second Language (ESL) and Gifted and Talented (GT). In addition, the DOE supports and models the USCB Core Values of integrity, collaboration, innovation, responsiveness, accountability, and excellence. Our programs have been designed to support and fulfill USCB’s mission to “offer baccalaureate degrees which respond to regional needs, draw upon regional strengths, and prepare graduates to participate successfully in the local as well as global community” (<https://www.uscb.edu/about/history.html>).
